

FOOTBALL • BOWLING • RACING • ATHLETICS • BOXING

SYRACUSE RALLIES
IN SECOND HALF

Defeated, But Scores on Army Team.

OUTPLAYED BY WEST POINT

Doe Fails to Kick All But One Goal, and Is Sent to Side Line.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Outplayed, torn to pieces, and with twenty-one points to their nothing in the first half, the Syracuse team today rallied in the second half, and shutting the Cadets out, scored a touchdown.

The Army started scoring early in the first half. Securing the ball on Syracuse's fumble of the kick-off, they carried it straight for a touchdown four minutes after the game started, adding three more in the half. Doe failed to kick all but one goal.

Syracuse Outclassed.

The visitors were outclassed in the first half and never threatened the Soldiers' goal.

In the last half West Point replaced both ends with substitutes. Torney and Doe also went to the side lines. The stars for the visitors were Harwood, Bunell, and Powell.

Harwood hit the line for large slices, and Bunell skinned the West Point left tackle time and again for large gains. Twice during the last half did they carry the ball to within striking distance of the Army goal, and twice did the Army break through and block Bunell's attempts at field goal.

By hard line work and end runs the visitors got the ball to within a yard of the Army's goal. Here the Soldiers put up a defense that was almost impregnable. It took three rushes for Currie to score, just crossing the line with not even an inch to spare.

Final score: West Point, 21; Syracuse, 5.

The Line-Up.

West Point. Positions. Syracuse.

Hammon, L. E. .... Bunell

Hedrick, L. T. .... Harwood

Christie, L. G. .... Van Dune

Weeks, L. G. .... Dempster

Tipton, L. G. .... Stephenson

Seagraves, R. G. .... Tucker

Mittler, R. T. .... Magoo

Gillespie, R. E. .... Powell

Rockwell, Q. B. .... Stimson

Garvey, R. H. B. .... Park

Gill, R. H. B. .... Watkins

Prince, L. F. B. .... Curtis

Torney, L. F. B. .... Watkins

Touchdowns—West Point, Doe, 4; Syracuse, Currie, 1. Goals from field—Doe, 1; Umpire—Dr. Stauffer. Referee—Mr. Dunbar. Linesmen—West Point, Lane. Times of halves—25 minutes.

MECHANICAL TEAM'S SHEET STILL CLEAN

Leads in Railway League With Twelve
Victories—Movers Best of Individual Bowlers.

The Mechanical team still leads in the Washington Railway Relief Association Bowling League with a clean record of twelve victories, and no defeats. The Columbia quint retains second place a record of twelve victories and three defeats, an average of 307.

The Southern team has lost an even dozen games without once winning. In the individual records Mechanical is also at the head, Movers, of that team, with an average of 165.5, leads. Staub, of the Roadways, is a close second, with 165.6.

The records:

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
Mechanical	12	0	1.000
Columbia	12	3	.800
Roadway	12	4	.750
Eastern	10	9	.526
Gen. Office	8	7	.533
Lighting Co.	7	8	.466
Northern	3	12	.200
N. Eastern	2	13	.133
Southern	0	12	.000

INDIVIDUAL AVERAGES.

Name	Club	Total	Average
Movers <td>Mechanical</td> <td>1955</td> <td>165.5</td>	Mechanical	1955	165.5
Staub <td>Roadway</td> <td>1987</td> <td>165.6</td>	Roadway	1987	165.6
Wenner <td>Mechanical</td> <td>1901</td> <td>158.5</td>	Mechanical	1901	158.5
Wysocki <td>Eastern</td> <td>1850</td> <td>154.2</td>	Eastern	1850	154.2
Stinner <td>N. Eastern</td> <td>1845</td> <td>153.8</td>	N. Eastern	1845	153.8
Dement <td>Columbia</td> <td>1775</td> <td>147.9</td>	Columbia	1775	147.9
Whitney <td>Gen. Office</td> <td>1741</td> <td>145.1</td>	Gen. Office	1741	145.1
Crosby <td>Eastern</td> <td>1710</td> <td>142.5</td>	Eastern	1710	142.5
Hitchcock <td>Columbia</td> <td>1610</td> <td>134.2</td>	Columbia	1610	134.2
Lackey <td>Gen. Office</td> <td>1585</td> <td>132.1</td>	Gen. Office	1585	132.1

SWARTHMORE WINS FROM GREAT RIVAL, HAVERFORD

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—The greatest crowd that ever witnessed a football game on Whittier field, this afternoon saw Swarthmore win from their greatest rival, Haverford, by the score of 27 to 6.

The visitors played a wonderfully consistent game, while the vanquished were in the struggle to the last, striving against the big odds they had to overcome against and giving their rooters cause to applaud time and again.

PENNSY FRESHMEN DEFEAT
FRESHMEN FROM COLUMBIA

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—The Pennsylvania freshmen and the freshmen from Columbia met on the gridiron this afternoon in their annual contest. Emulating their first team, the Quakers easily won from Father Kneckerbocker's sons by the score of 35 to 0.

The game was played on Franklin field. In the first half Pennsylvania scored two touchdowns. The feature was a forty-five-yard quarterback run by Mulford.

In the second half Penn scored four times, Benis making two, and Bradley and Mulford one each.

NATIONAL LEAGUE CALL.

A call has been issued for the annual meeting of the National League baseball moguls to meet in New York on December 13. It is expected to be the same old conclusion for the disturbance of hot air.

Dandelion the Winner
Of Grand Consolation

Took Richest Purse of Benning Meeting
From Oxford by a Length—Excellent Card Drew Large Crowd.

With the Grand Consolation for two-year-olds at seven furlongs, the Chevy Chase Steeplechase for gentlemen riders, and four well-balanced overnight events, the Benning program, yesterday, the Washington Jockey Club offered a racing menu that would be hard to duplicate at any race track in these waning days of the season.

As a drawing card it was all-powerful. The day was bright and warm for the season, and a crowd of 8,000 sport-loving men and women paid their respects to the thoroughbreds. The clubhouse veranda was well filled with members of the smart set from Washington and Baltimore, with many visitors from New York and Philadelphia. Between 600 and 800 came from Baltimore on the race special alone.

Good Crowd.

It was a good crowd, and a nice one, and was well repaid for its pains. The racing was snappy, the result in every event except the steeplechase being hard-fought and in doubt, in many instances, until the official placing was made public. Of the five flat races, Dandelion, winner of the Grand Consolation, had the greatest margin of victory, and he was ridden out to win by a length from Oxford.

The Grand Consolation is the most valuable race offered by the Washington Jockey Club at either spring or fall meeting, and invariably attracts some juveniles of more than average class. The club adds $3,000 to the subscription and starting fees, and yesterday's race was worth $5,135 net to the owner of the winner, F. R. Hitchcock, a steward of the Jockey Club, and president of the Saratoga Racing Association.

There were only four starters, Kassil having been withdrawn, but the field represented owners prominent at all of the New York tracks. Pasadena and Oxford were coupled as the entry of James McLaughlin, Gamara carried the gold and green silks of R. T. Wilson, Jr., and Dandelion ran in the interest of F. R. Hitchcock. The McLaughlin entry was well supported in the betting. It was possible for a little while to get even money against the entry, but 4 to 5 and 5 to 10 was the ruling quotation. Gamara was second choice, backed from 3 to 1 to 5 to 2, while Dandelion was the outsider, closing at 16 to 5.

All Dandelion.

It was Dandelion's race from the springing of the barrier. The start was a splendid one, the horses being beautifully aligned, but Shaw was very much alive with Dandelion and showed in front before the field had gone fifty yards. He was never afterward headed. He gained a lead of two lengths before the turn was reached, but coming into the stretch Odom began to move up with Oxford. A furlong from home Odom was hard at work on Oxford, but Dandelion always had the foot of him, and hand ridden by Shaw, hung on to win by a length from Oxford, who beat Gamara five lengths for the place.

The steeplechase was spoiled by accidents to three of the five starters. The conditions called for gentlemen riders, approved by the stewards, and Mr. Taylor, of Baltimore; Mr. Page, of New York; Mr. Harris, of Philadelphia; Mr. Parsons, of Warrenton, and Mr. Dion Kerr, of Washington, were the riders. Conover, ridden by his owner, Mr. Harris, was a well-backed public choice, going to the post at 7 to 10. He went to the front early and led for two miles. Pure Pepper was the contender for the first turn of the field, when he retired in favor of Imperialist.

Falls in Steeplechase.

Two fences from home Conover was still in the lead, when he came a terrible cropper. Mr. Taylor steered Imperialist around the fallen horse, but Mr. Page was not so fortunate, and his mount, Pure Pepper, went down also. This gave the race to Imperialist, who was fast catching Conover at the time of the trouble, and probably would have won in any case. Richelieu II had taken a tumble the first turn of the field, and only Black Death was left to fight it out with Imperialist. Mr. Kerr was hard at work on him, but he lacked the speed to catch Imperialist, who won easily by fifteen lengths. The winner was a Virginia horse, and the rider from Baltimore, and as both were well represented in the crowd the victory was a popular one.

None of the riders who met with mishaps was hurt. Mr. Parsons, who was on Richelieu II, got a nasty fall at the Liverpool opposite the stand, and it was at first feared that he had been seriously injured, but he was revived in a few minutes and walked back to the paddock with nothing but a badly scratched face to show for the accident. Mr. Harris' Page got off without a scratch as a reminder.

Accident in Fifth.

There was an accident in the fifth race also that probably was some bearing on the result. Just as the horses were turning into the stretch Damon overreached and grabbed himself and fell. In falling he interfered with Dekker, the 9 to 10 favorite, who lost some ground. In a drive Persistence II, who was the pace-maker from the start, won by a head from Dekker. The Crimmins, who rode Damon, was unhurt, and his horse was unhurt by the accident, as he rode New York to victory in the following race. Damon had a bad cut on his right forefoot, and will likely be out of commission for some time.

Persistence II, the winner, belongs to J. E. Seagram, a member of the Canadian parliament. Persistence was bred by King Edward and is by Persimmon, who won the English Derby in the royal stud by Mr. Seagram, and who rarely fails to land a good crop at Benning, together with his friends, backed the colt, and won a nice sum through his victory. Wire in, another Canadian horse, was third, and was well backed for that position.

Stretch Duel.

The first race resulted in a stretch duel between Juvenile Maxim, the 5 to 1 favorite, and St. Roma, second choice, at 16 to 5, the former just lasting it out to win by half a length. Kilogram was third, and the public picked them one, two, Uncas, the 5 to 2 favorite, winning by a head from the second choice, Golden Sunrise, with Critical third. There was a lot of interference in the race, and with clear sailing, either Golden Sunrise or Critical might have won.

Crimmins won the closing race with New York, played from 4 to 1 to 7 to 2, by stealing a march in the first furlong and gaining a lead that the others could not overcome. At the end he was hand ridden to win by half a length.

Only two favorite won, but the winners all were well backed, and layers and players had an even break in the speculative argument.

Summaries.

First race—Selling; three-year-olds and up; seven furlongs; Columbia course. Juvenile Maxim, 3 to 1; St. Roma, 16 to 5; Golden Sunrise, 7 to 2; Critical, 7 to 1; third, Time, 1:31 4-5.

Second race—Maidens; two-year-olds; five furlongs; Columbia course. Uncas, 3 to 1; Golden Sunrise, 7 to 2; second, Critical, 7 to 1; third, Time, 1:31 4-5.

Third race—Chevy Chase Steeplechase; about two miles and a half; Imperialist, 4 to 1; w. Black Death, 7 to 2; second, Pure Pepper, 7 to 1; third, Time, 8:12 1-2.

Fourth race—The Grand Consolation; seven furlongs; Columbia course. Dandelion, 16 to 5; w. Oxford, 5 to 1; second, Pasadena, 5 to 2; third, Time, 1:27 3-5.

Fifth race—Four-year-olds and upward; one mile and forty yards; Columbia course. Persistence II, 4 to 1; w. Dekker, 3 to 1; second, Wire in, 8 to 1; third, Time, 1:34 2-5.

Sixth race—Handicap; three-year-olds and upward; one mile and one-half; old course. New York, 7 to 2; w. The Southerner, 6 to 1; second, Caribou, 4 to 1; third, Time, 1:40 1-2.

Shaw was the lucky rider, scoring with Juvenile Maxim and Dandelion.

Wonderfully was suspended for four days by Starter Cassidy for misbehavior at the post. R. Murphy and Lee also were set down for two days each for the same offense.

H. K. Knapp, a steward of the Jockey Club and owner of a racing stable, was among the New York visitors. Mr. Knapp and F. R. Hitchcock will go from here to Kentucky to look after their breeding interests.

H. I. Stone, the Canadian amateur rider who gained a great reputation on the New York track this season for his skill as a jockey, was not allowed to ride in the Chevy Chase and Bennett races, to be withdrawn because of this ruling.

A clause in the conditions for the Chevy Chase states that riders who are not amateurs in the strictest sense of the term.

BENNING ENTRIES FOR MONDAY'S RACES

First race—Six and one-half furlongs; for all ages; Columbia course. Arghowh, 130; Parkville, 128; Pat Bulger, 128; Queen Bell, 125; Poseur, 125; Brown, 125; Birchard, 125; Monoceros, 125; Juvenaga, 102; Balkal, 102; Sufferance, 102; Amberjack, 100; Black Cat, 97; Fondness, 97; Incense, 97.

Second race—Selling; for two-year-olds; six furlongs; Columbia course. Monoceros, 100; Capet Sable, 100; Pinders, 100; Delphie, 100; Dazzle, 100; Recce, 100; Prince of Wales, 100; Calmness, 100; Blue Bird, 100; Tarpion, 100; Goldruer, 100; Belle Sauvage, 100; Probe, 100; Applaud, 100; Cushman, 100; Poxy, 99.

Third race—Handicap; two-year-olds and upward; one mile and one-half; Columbia course. Ascension, 128; G. Between, 119; New York, 112; King of the South, 110; Monoceros, 100; Frank Foster, 97; Allumure, 94; Sufferance, 94.

Fourth race—Selling; for two-year-olds; six furlongs; Columbia course. Monoceros, 100; Capet Sable, 100; Pinders, 100; Delphie, 100; Dazzle, 100; Recce, 100; Prince of Wales, 100; Calmness, 100; Blue Bird, 100; Tarpion, 100; Goldruer, 100; Belle Sauvage, 100; Probe, 100; Applaud, 100; Cushman, 100; Poxy, 99.

Fifth race—Handicap; four years and upward; one mile and a furlong; old course. Arghowh, 130; Parkville, 128; Pat Bulger, 128; Queen Bell, 125; Poseur, 125; Brown, 125; Birchard, 125; Monoceros, 125; Juvenaga, 102; Balkal, 102; Sufferance, 102; Amberjack, 100; Black Cat, 97; Fondness, 97; Incense, 97.

Sixth race—Handicap; four years and upward; one mile and a furlong; old course. Arghowh, 130; Parkville, 128; Pat Bulger, 128; Queen Bell, 125; Poseur, 125; Brown, 125; Birchard, 125; Monoceros, 125; Juvenaga, 102; Balkal, 102; Sufferance, 102; Amberjack, 100; Black Cat, 97; Fondness, 97; Incense, 97.

Seventh race—Handicap; four years and upward; one mile and a furlong; old course. Arghowh, 130; Parkville, 128; Pat Bulger, 128; Queen Bell, 125; Poseur, 125; Brown, 125; Birchard, 125; Monoceros, 125; Juvenaga, 102; Balkal, 102; Sufferance, 102; Amberjack, 100; Black Cat, 97; Fondness, 97; Incense, 97.

Eighth race—Handicap; four years and upward; one mile and a furlong; old course. Arghowh, 130; Parkville, 128; Pat Bulger, 128; Queen Bell, 125; Poseur, 125; Brown, 125; Birchard, 125; Monoceros, 125; Juvenaga, 102; Balkal, 102; Sufferance, 102; Amberjack, 100; Black Cat, 97; Fondness, 97; Incense, 97.

FARMERS EASILY
BEAT THE MUTES

Rolled Up Large Score of 23 to 5

WORKED PECULIAR TRICK

Pretended Signal Was Wrong, Distracted Opponents' Attention, and Then Ran Seventy Yards.

Before an enthusiastic crowd of well-wishers and a large delegation of visiting students, Gallaudet University closed an unsuccessful football season at Kendall Green yesterday, by losing to the Maryland Agricultural College, by 23 to 5.

Although Gallaudet fought gamely, and several times made noticeable advances toward its opponents' goal the final result was never in doubt. The Mutes were slow in starting, and tackled like veritable beginners. Until the game was nearing its end, the Farmers presented an almost impenetrable line of defense. Toward the close, however, the Mutes discovered a weak spot in the right side of their opponents' line, of which they were quick to take advantage.

Gallaudet used its usual tackle plays and end runs. Occasionally a quarterback run was attempted, but with indifferent success.

Encouraged by the brightness of the day and also urged on by loyalty to one college or the other, fully 22,000 enthusiastic followers of the game wended their way to Yale Field and filled the immense grandstands.

At noon the crowds began to gather, and by 1:30, almost an hour before the game, the grandstands were a mass of impatient humanity, cheering, stamping, and waving flags.

Many distinguished visitors were among those in the grandstands, the leading light being Vice President-elect Fairbanks. He took a seat among the Yale rooters. His arrival was the signal for loud and prolonged cheers by both contingents.

Flags in Evidence.

The scene at the field beggars description. On the east side, the usual rendezvous of the Yale rooters and their devotees, myriads of dark blue flags, set off most vividly by the darker background of their holders' apparel, were frantically waved or swayed back and forth in rhythmic time to the songs of the rooters.

The west stand, where Harvard had taken up position, presented the appearance of a huge bank of crimson and added to this brilliant color scheme were the variegated hues of the gowns of the residents from Cambridge and the back bay district of the Hub.

Rival Challenges.

At 1:20 the yelling battle, which always precedes the sterner work of the gridiron itself, began. Five thousand youths who upheld the honor of Old Eli in this din, hurled a challenge at the Crimson stand in a might brook-a-keek-cro.

Harvard hurled back the challenge with an equally mighty "rah, rah, rah," from a roar of "boola, boola, boola," from the east was answered by a chorus of "Fair Harvard" sung with bared heads. Back and forth the cheering passed, until the very ground seemed to shake with the reverberation.

The game itself was one which amply repaid the many thousands who made the trip from New York and Boston. With the exception of some miserable fumbling on both sides in the first half and four or five cases of holding in the line, for which both teams paid the usual penalty of fifteen yards, the tussle was peculiarly devoid of those weak spots which so often spoil an otherwise good game.

Harvard was the most at fault in the matter of fumbling, as Yale was in the matter of holding.

Crimson's Weakness.

There is little question that had the Crimson eleven been as strong in offensive work as they were in defensive the result would not have been as great a defeat as it was, and there is a possibility, though a remote one, that victory might have perched on the Crimson banner instead of the Dark Blue.

Three times Yale had worked the ball down close to the goal line of the Harvard team, only to be held for downs and the pigskin punted out into safe territory. The Crimson line at times presented the appearance of a stone wall and even Bloomer, the justly famous line plunger was thrown back like a putty ball.

Some Mighty Giants.

As to the brilliant work of any individual player it would be difficult to pick out the stars. Bloomer did his duty in magnificent form, at one time capturing a fumble and carrying the ball to within a few yards of the goal line before he was captured and downed.

Hogan, the mighty, was there with the goods, too, as was Rockwell, Yale's quarter, and General Shevlin, the

A THANKFUL PHILOSOPHER.

"Goin' to feel thankful next Thanksgiving Day?"

"Oh, yes! I've got a little rheumatism, an' a smatterin' of the fall collis, an' some slow fever, but the rattlin' in the head, an' one sprained ankle, out outside o' them trifles, I'm well an' new."

"Well, in the name o' goodness, what have you got to be thankful for?"

"Got to be thankful for? Why, man, I missed the measles!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Thanksgiving Gunning Parties

supplied with guns, ammunition, and clothing at special Thanksgiving prices. Big reduction—slightly shown guns—practically good as new.

Loaded Smokeless $2.25

Power Shells, per 100....

M. A. Tappan & Co.

1339 F Street

Yale Bulldog Too Much
For Crimson Warriors

Cambridge Eleven Goes Down in Defeat Before the Moleskin Team of Old Eli—Outplayed at All Points of Game.

YALE FIELD, NEW HAVEN, Conn.

Nov. 19.—After a fiercely fought gridiron battle, the moleskin warriors of Yale this afternoon took Harvard into camp by 12 to 0.

It was a glorious victory, and the Crimson warriors tonight are wearing crepe. They went back to Cambridge with the realization they had been up against an aggregation that excelled them at every point.

An Ideal Afternoon.

The day for the annual football game between the elevens of Yale and Harvard was all that could be desired. The air was crisp and not a breath of wind was blowing to interfere with the punts.

The day dawned misty and with some light signs of possible wet weather before nightfall, but long before 9 o'clock the sun broke its way through the mist.

The field was not in perfect condition as some soft spots were noticeable, and these marshy spots had to be covered heavily with sawdust to insure the possibility of the cleated shoes of the players getting a hold.

Many Thousands Out.

Encouraged by the brightness of the day and also urged on by loyalty to one college or the other, fully 22,000 enthusiastic followers of the game wended their way to Yale Field and filled the immense grandstands.

At noon the crowds began to gather, and by 1:30, almost an hour before the game, the grandstands were a mass of impatient humanity, cheering, stamping, and waving flags.

Many distinguished visitors were among those in the grandstands, the leading light being Vice President-elect Fairbanks. He took a seat among the Yale rooters. His arrival was the signal for loud and prolonged cheers by both contingents.

Flags in Evidence.

The scene at the field beggars description. On the east side, the usual rendezvous of the Yale rooters and their devotees, myriads of dark blue flags, set off most vividly by the darker background of their holders' apparel, were frantically waved or swayed back and forth in rhythmic time to the songs of the rooters.

The west stand, where Harvard had taken up position, presented the appearance of a huge bank of crimson and added to this brilliant color scheme were the variegated hues of the gowns of the residents from Cambridge and the back bay district of the Hub.

Rival Challenges.

At 1:20 the yelling battle, which always precedes the sterner work of the gridiron itself, began. Five thousand youths who upheld the honor of Old Eli in this din, hurled a challenge at the Crimson stand in a might brook-a-keek-cro.

Harvard hurled back the challenge with an equally mighty "rah, rah, rah," from a roar of "boola, boola, boola," from the east was answered by a chorus of "Fair Harvard" sung with bared heads. Back and forth the cheering passed, until the very ground seemed to shake with the reverberation.

The game itself was one which amply repaid the many thousands who made the trip from New York and Boston. With the exception of some miserable fumbling on both sides in the first half and four or five cases of holding in the line, for which both teams paid the usual penalty of fifteen yards, the tussle was peculiarly devoid of those weak spots which so often spoil an otherwise good game.

Harvard was the most at fault in the matter of fumbling, as Yale was in the matter of holding.

Crimson's Weakness.

There is little question that had the Crimson eleven been as strong in offensive work as they were in defensive the result would not have been as great a defeat as it was, and there is a possibility, though a remote one, that victory might have perched on the Crimson banner instead of the Dark Blue.

Three times Yale had worked the ball down close to the goal line of the Harvard team, only to be held for downs and the pigskin punted out into safe territory. The Crimson line at times presented the appearance of a stone wall and even Bloomer, the justly famous line plunger was thrown back like a putty ball.

Some Mighty Giants.

As to the brilliant work of any individual player it would be difficult to pick out the stars. Bloomer did his duty in magnificent form, at one time capturing a fumble and carrying the ball to within a few yards of the goal line before he was captured and downed.

Hogan, the mighty, was there with the goods, too, as was Rockwell, Yale's quarter, and General Shevlin, the

A THANKFUL PHILOSOPHER.

"Goin' to feel thankful next Thanksgiving Day?"

"Oh, yes! I've got a little rheumatism, an' a smatterin' of the fall collis, an' some slow fever, but the rattlin' in the head, an' one sprained ankle, out outside o' them trifles, I'm well an' new."

"Well, in the name o' goodness, what have you got to be thankful for?"

"Got to be thankful for? Why, man, I missed the measles!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Thanksgiving Gunning Parties

supplied with guns, ammunition, and clothing at special Thanksgiving prices. Big reduction—slightly shown guns—practically good as new.

Loaded Smokeless $2.25

Power Shells, per 100....

M. A. Tappan & Co.

1339 F Street

Thanksgiving Gunning Parties

supplied with guns, ammunition, and clothing at special Thanksgiving prices. Big reduction—slightly shown guns—practically good as new.

Loaded Smokeless $2.25

Power Shells, per 100....

M. A. Tappan & Co.

1339 F Street

Thanksgiving Gunning Parties

supplied with guns, ammunition, and clothing at special Thanksgiving prices. Big reduction—slightly shown guns—practically good as new.

Loaded Smokeless $2.25

Power Shells, per 100....

M. A. Tappan & Co.

1339 F Street

Thanksgiving Gunning Parties

supplied with guns, ammunition, and clothing at special Thanksgiving prices. Big reduction—slightly shown guns—practically good as new.

Loaded Smokeless $2.25

Power Shells, per 100....

M. A. Tappan & Co.

1339 F Street

Thanksgiving Gunning Parties

supplied with guns, ammunition, and clothing at special Thanksgiving prices. Big reduction—slightly shown guns—practically good as new.

Loaded Smokeless $2.25

Power Shells, per 100....

M. A. Tappan & Co.

1339 F Street

Thanksgiving Gunning Parties

supplied with guns, ammunition, and clothing at special Thanksgiving prices. Big reduction—slightly shown guns—practically good as new.

Loaded Smokeless $2.25

Power Shells, per 100....

M. A. Tappan & Co.

1339 F Street

Thanksgiving Gunning Parties

supplied with guns, ammunition, and clothing at special Thanksgiving prices. Big reduction—slightly shown guns—pract